Seneca WORKS

Seneca has been an innovator in public safety and law enforcement education for over five decades. This is the first crime and intelligence analysis degree offered at an Ontario postsecondary institution where we prepare students with in-demand skills and specialist knowledge for investigative, law enforcement and analytical positions with organizations across both the public and private sectors.

PROGRAM FEATURES

The program addresses a variety of emerging topics and trends in crime and investigations including:

- Crime mapping and tracking
- Social media and social networks
- Organized crime and gang intelligence
- Corporate espionage and cyber-crimes
- Behavioural and forensic psychology
- National security and intelligence-led operations
- Counter-terrorism and criminal and terrorist financing prevention

INDUSTRY SKILLS

- In-depth knowledge of criminal justice and law enforcement
- Applied skills in cyber-investigations and social media analysis
- Analytical and research skills
- Building public and community safety by applying internationally recognized professional practices, strategies and investigative tools for crime prevention
- Geographical Information Systems (GIS)
- IT literacy, including using Excel spreadsheets
- Critical thinking and collaboration
- Social media analysis

RECRUITMENT AND HIRING PROCESS

- Work terms take place from May to August or September to December and last up to four months
- The recruitment and application process begins three to four months prior to the job start date

HIRE IN THREE SIMPLE STEPS:

1. Register an account or log in at Seneca Works Career Portal and upload your job posting.
2. Receive applications.
3. Conduct interviews and select candidate(s).
